Trauma informed care for physicians training. CEU opportunity

In their commitment towards continuous quality improvement, Simply Healthcare Plans, Inc. (Simply) and Clear Health Alliance (CHA) are excited to embark on the process of becoming a Trauma-Informed Organization (TIO). To support this effort, Simply and CHA have partnered with Florida State University (FSU) Center for Prevention & Early Intervention Policy, a nationally recognized center of excellence in trauma, along with their extensive network of national partners and will be offering provider training opportunities.

This continuing education unit (CEU) approved training will be conducted by national experts, Jack Shonkoff, M.D. and Kay Roussous Ross, M.D. This presentation provides the foundational science of adversity and toxic stress and training on practical strategies for providing trauma informed care.

The understanding and skills provided in this training paves the way for physicians and medical professionals to prevent trauma and toxic stress in childhood through sharpened awareness. This course will also define ways to intervene when adult patients present with health problems through treating the underlying condition and thereby increasing the likelihood of better health.
